A physician sponsoring a constitutional amendment to limit the possibility of state-run health care will debate the head of an Arizona hospital group Wednesday night at NAU.

Who has the best health care remedy? (The Charlotte Observer)

(By Karen Garloch, kgarloch@charlotteobserver.com) Both major gubernatorial candidates want to make health insurance more affordable and accessible to the 1.5 million uninsured North Carolinians. But they would tackle the problem in very different ways. Charlotte Mayor Pat McCrory, the Republican, favors incentives, such as tax credits, to encourage more of the uninsured to buy private ...
